Fountain Valley Highlights

The City of Fountain Valley is almost 10 square miles of something for everyone. Whether you are shopping for a great deal, going out for dinner, or looking for recreational opportunities, you can find them all right here in Fountain Valley.

In addition to neighborhood shopping centers that are located through the community, there are also major shopping districts located along Brookhurst Street within the City limits and at Ellis Street and the 405 Freeway. You can be sure to find great deals on everything you need at Sam's Club, Costo, Petsmart, Fry's Electronics, Office Depot, or the numerous small town specialty shops. You are also bound to find a great meal for any type of craving you may have. Please remember that when you support the local business you help to support your community.

One of the greatest features of the City is Mile Square Park with its three golf courses, large passive park area, Boys and Girls Club, and City run Recreation Center and Sports Park. Escape to this natural island and enjoy anything from jogging to a picnic. If you are a cyclist you will also find Fountain Valley to be bicycle friendly with bike lanes on most streets and easy access to the Santa Ana River channel that runs from the Pacific Ocean to the City of Corona.

The public schools in the City are well known for their quality. There are four districts in the City with a total of twelve elementary schools, three middle schools, and five high schools that serve the residents of the City. There is also a college.

Fountain Valley is a full service City which means it maintains its own Police and Fire Departments. The safety of the citizens is top priority and for this reason the Fire Department employs fire fighters that are trained as paramedics as well. Further serving the community are two accredited major medical centers: Fountain Valley Regional Hospital and Orange Coast Memorial Hospital.

We encourage you to explore the City and discover all that it has to offer. If you have any questions about where to find a business or service, or what services we at the City offer, please call the Chamber of Commerce at 714-668-0542 or the City at 714-593-4412

Fountain Valley's History

Tongva people were the first ones to call Fountain Valley home. They lived here up until the time when the Spanish settlers arrived. One of the settlers was a man named Manuel Nieto. Nieto had been granted 300,000-acres which he named Rancho Los Nietos, and which is largely the area known today as Fountain Valley. Upon independence from Spain, the area was transferred to Mexico and later was given to the United States as part of the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo.

At one point in time, Fountain Valley was known as Gospel Swamps due to the many swamps that dotted the landscape, and the large number of preachers in the area. The landscape changed though in the late 1870s when a severe drought hit.

The drought had a significant effect on the future of the area as farmers discovered the rich soil that was once overshadowed by the wetlands. Another bonus for farmers was that there was a plentiful supply of fresh water for irrigation coming from natural springs and artesian wells. It was these natural springs and artesian wells that led residents of the time to call the area "Fountain Valley."

With the newly discovered farmland came higher land values, which attracted more people to the area. In 1903, a pioneer by the name of James T. Talbert formed a drainage district and channeled the Santa Ana River. He also built drainage canals that permanently protected the farmland from flooding.

The first farmers grazed cattle and grew field crops such as sugar beets, beans, barley, and wheat. Later, farmers planted truck crops such as strawberries, cabbage, cauliflower, asparagus, corn, beans, lettuce, carrots, spinach, onions, tomatoes, broccoli, parsley, peas, and squash.

The City of Fountain Valley was incorporated in 1957 as the 21st Orange County city. Since becoming a City, Fountain Valley has been recognized, both locally and nationally, as a forward-looking community dedicated to giving its citizens the best quality of life possible.

Fountain Valley grew very quickly in the 1960s. Thankfully, the growth took place after a Master Plan for the community had been put in place. This provided a “blueprint” for the growth to take place in an orderly planned way. This is why Fountain Valley has often been referred to as Orange County’s best-planned community. The Master Plan, also called the General Plan, has been updated many times over the last 50 years to keep the growth orderly. Today the City is considered to be “built out” and has a population of 55, 313.

Even though it is mature, Fountain Valley will need to continue to look for ways it can change to meet its environment and the needs of its citizens. The strong foundation that the City has been built on over the last 50 years will enable it to adapt well to the future.

Government and Services

The City Government is divided into the legislative, legal and administrative branches. The City Council is the legislative body, setting the laws, policies, and future visions for the Community.
